

Photo by Marty Snyderman

Photo by Ned DeLoach

2015 FIELD SURVEY TRIP PROGRAM

Dive Vacations That Count

For the past two decades, REEF volunteer surveyors have compiled the largest fish sighting database in the world, led the way in lionfish invasion intervention, and pioneered research for the preservation of Nassau Grouper populations. REEF Trips are led by marine life experts. Join like-minded divers for an itinerary of diving, seminars, and fun!

HAWAII

Kona Aggressor II Liveaboard

February 28 – March 7, 2015

Deluxe Stateroom $2,735 (double occupancy)

Quad Stateroom $2,575 (female shares)

Led by Christy Pattengill-Semmens, Ph.D., REEF Director of Science

Join us for a spectacular week experiencing the best diving Hawaii has to offer aboard the luxurious Kona Aggressor II. An expert in Hawaii fish identification, Christy Pattengill-Semmens will guide novices and experts alike in learning about the amazing biodiversity of Hawaiian fishes, including the many endemic species.

Your package includes 7 nights double occupancy accommodation aboard an 80-foot catamaran, 6 days of diving the west and south sides of the Big Island of Hawaii beginning on Sunday (up to 5 dives per day including night dives) and 2 dives on Friday, tanks and weights, and all meals aboard the ship (except dinner Friday night) including complimentary beer and wine.

To reserve your space or find out more, email us at trips@REEF.org, or call us at 305-588-5869.

Reef Environmental Education Foundation

Explore. Discover. Make a Difference.

(305)588-5869 trips@REEF.org www.REEF.org/trips

Prices do not include an additional REEF Program fee. All prices are per person based on double occupancy. Single occupancy rates available. Please visit www.REEF.org/trips for further details. Any liabilities for trip interruptions, cancellations, or general travel disputes will be the responsibility of the traveler.