Reef Environmental Education Foundation, was organized as a nonprofit organization in 1990 and is based in Key Largo, Florida. REEF's mission is to conserve marine ecosystems for their recreational, commercial, and intrinsic value by educating, enlisting and enabling divers and other marine enthusiasts to become active stewards and citizen scientists. REEF links the diving community with scientist, resource managers and conservationist through marine-life data collection and related activities.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4a - First Accomplishment

REEF Trips: In 2019 REEF Citizen science volunteers conducted fifteen trips to study the diversity and abundance of marine life species. Trip participants scuba dive and snorkel to collect and report information on marine fish populations as well as sea turtles and select invertebrates and algae species. This data is used to better understand and protect ocean ecosystems worldwide. Fisheries protection around the world depend on high-quality data. With REEF data submitted by citizen scientists, researchers are making exciting discoveries about marine ecosystems, and policy makers have more information to refine conservation efforts.

Education and outreach: REEF provides education and outreach activities to build and inspire a community of ocean stewards. We conduct online programs such as webinars with interactive content. We also conduct in-person programming led by REEF staff as well as the wide network of partners including dive shops, clubs, nature centers, and public aquaria.

It has generated the world's largest marine life sighting database, an unparalleled source of information that provides invaluable insight into the health, status and threats of ocean habitats and animals.
